

Len Millington 1931-1999 Vindi deck 1947

Len crossed the bar in Randwick Hospital (Sydney) on November 19th. Len Joined us in 96 and came along to all our days out in Sydney Town which he really enjoyed, he always came in on the train, the only time he tried driving in he went down in NSW Vindi history.

After successfully finding and crossing the Harbour Bridge he shot past the North Sydney RSL club and finished up on the Newcastle freeway heading north!

But it never stopped him smiling like he is in this photo taken at a Vindi outing to the national maritime Museum.

Sadly I never learnt about his 'history' I recall he and his wife emigrated from UK in the late 50s and I think he was a printer by trade.

The flat cap and his cheeky grin were his trademark.

Photos below from the visit to the Maritime Museum Jan 28 1997

The cap and the grin well evident.

On the Russian Submarine